Woman dies in Geraldton towing mishap

UPDATE: A 29-year-old woman has been killed in a freak accident on a Geraldton beach today.

Police say the mother-of-three was sitting in a car which was reversing in an attempt to pull another car out of sand at Drummond Cove, about 12km north of Geraldton, just after noon.

According to officers, the tow ball on the bogged car dislodged and was flung backwards through a window of the rear car, hitting the woman in the throat.

People at the scene drove her to the outskirts of Geraldton and met an ambulance at a road house.

The woman died soon afterwards in Geraldton Hospital.

Police are still at the scene.
